American Ground Water Trust

The American Ground Water Trust (AGWT) is a non-profit educational organization founded in 1986. Since its institution, the AGWT has brought together stakeholders to encourage open discussion about practical ways to develop, manage and protect groundwater resources.

The Mission of AGWT is to:

- Communicate the environmental and economic value of groundwater
- Promote efficient and effective groundwater management
- Showcase groundwater science and technology solutions
- Increase citizen, community and decision making awareness
- Facilitate stakeholder participation in water resource decisions

In 2023, the AGWT held 10 in-person conferences and workshops and 4 webinars reaching almost 1,400 participants. These programs and other outreach events are vital in ensuring that science is the basis for local, state and national water policy. Sponsorship of AGWT helps us continue to provide these objective, educational programs nationally.
